

IN THE CLAIMS:

1. (previously presented) A scent dispenser for attracting game and for dipping into a scent container having a rim, comprising:

- (a) an absorbent member;
- (b) an aperture through the absorbent member for suspending the absorbent member; and
- (c) wherein the absorbent member further comprises an elongate member having a first portion with the aperture therethrough and a pair of legs attached to the first portion, the legs having a gap therebetween, each leg being adapted to be individually inserted into the scent container, with the rim of the scent container entering the gap; and
- (d) wherein the absorbent member is entirely made of absorbent material.

2. (canceled)

3. (currently amended) A method of dispensing attractant scent about a hunting position, comprising the steps of:

- (a) dipping a scent dispenser into a scent container, the scent dispenser absorbing scent from the scent container, wherein the scent dispenser has a pair of legs with a gap therebetween, and wherein either leg is inserted into the scent container with the rim of the container entering the gap;
- (b) suspending the scent dispenser from a rod by means of an aperture in the scent dispenser; and
- (c) walking about the hunting position with the scent dispenser suspended from the rod, whereby scent from the scent dispenser drips into the ground.

4. (canceled)

5. (previously presented) A scent dispenser for attracting game and for dipping into a scent container having a rim, comprising:

- (a) a one-piece absorbent member entirely made of absorbent material;
- (b) an aperture through the absorbent member for suspending the absorbent member; and
- (c) a slot in the absorbent member for receiving a scent container.